Sadie Dingfelder

Saturday,
October 5
1-2pm

How well do you really know yourself? Your best friend? Your spouse? Your kid?

We all think our inner worlds are pretty much the same—until we find out just how wildly wrong we are.

Science writer Sadie Dingfelder uncovered this mind-blowing truth while exploring her own brain's bizarre quirks—a journey she reveals in her memoir-science hybrid, Do I Know You? A Faceblind Reporter's Journey into the Science of Sight, Memory, and Imagination.

In this captivating read, Sadie dives into groundbreaking research showing that our experiences of reality come in more flavors than anyone ever thought possible. Can you picture things in your mind? Hear an inner monologue? Revisit vivid memories from your past?

Plenty of people, including Sadie, can't do any of those things!

Come grab a bagel at the Tatnuck Café and join us for a fun, interactive experiment, lively chat, and book signing—you might just discover something unexpected about your own mind!
