Cherylann & Len Gengel

Britney Gengel was a vibrant 19-year-old when she traveled to Haiti in January 2010 to help those in need, texting her mom about her dream to return and build an orphanage. Tragically, just hours later, an earthquake hit. For 33 agonizing days, her family held onto hope but soon learned Britney had not survived.

Determined to keep her dream alive, Britney's parents, Len and Cherylann Gengel, along with their sons Bernie and Richie, turned their grief into action. They built Brit's Home, a place of hope for children in Grand Goâve, Haiti—transforming their tragedy into a lasting legacy of love. Now, nearly 15 years later, Britney's dream is still alive. Brit's Home continues to provide for children, proving that even in the darkest times, faith and love can change lives.

Meet Britney's mom, Cherylann, and hear the incredible story of how Brit's Home continues to grow and make a difference. All proceeds from the book go directly to supporting Brit's Academy and reading programs, ensuring that Britney's legacy lives on for years to come.
