Anelise and Her Family Band and Algonquin High School's Unified Singing Club

Anelise Merrihew unexpectedly gained global notoriety in 2020 as she and her Family Band posted a vast array of musical performances called The Quarantine Sessions. Her heartfelt intentions were to bring light to those who need it and to send out love.

Anelise now continues to share her love and joy through music. While Anelise might be considered by some as "differently abled" due to having Autism Spectrum Disorder, she insists that you do not "dis" her Abilities! She is proud to be a State Ambassador and Officer for Best Buddies, and the Founder and President of her high school's first and only fully inclusive music club - Algonquin High School's Unified Singing Club.

The Unified Singing Club is a judgment-free zone, where students enjoy time to sing and feel free. These talented singers will perform after Anelise and Her Family Band.
